Space and Naval Warfare Systems Command Awards Contract

SAN DIEGO – ViaSat, Inc., of Carlsbad, Calif., a small business, is being awarded a $7,592,836 indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity-type contract modification to contract N00039-00-D-2101 for U.S. Army Multifunctional Information Distribution System – Low Volume Terminal (MIDS-LVT) production. A concurrent delivery order against this modification will be issued in the firm-fixed-price amount of $7,592,836 for non-recurring engineering, 11 First Article units (including warranty), and spares (including warranty). Contract funds in the amount of $7,592,836 will be obligated with the delivery order and will not expire at the end of this fiscal year. The period of performance is from contract award through September 2002. The contract modification contains pricing for ordering up to an additional 84 production terminals through fiscal year 2004. The contract modification also contains options for enhanced throughput development & demonstration, supportability, and depot maintenance & repair, which, if exercised, would increase the value of this contract modification by $12,895,977 to $20,488,813. Work will be performed in Carlsbad, Calif., Melbourne, Fla., and Cincinnati, Ohio. This contract modification is being awarded on the basis of a limited competition. The solicitation was issued to two offerors and two proposals were received. The Space and Naval Warfare Systems Command, San Diego is the contracting activity (N00039-00-D-2101).
